Explore the Boone County Bar Association web site

BCBA members who have not already done so are urged to explore the BCBA web site at www.bocombar.org.

The following summary of what can be found on the web site may also be helpful to members who have already visited the site but perhaps did not see everything.

Navigating the site was designed to be as simple as possible. There are links at the top and bottom of each page which go directly to the main pages on the site.

Of course, information about the BCBA itself is provided. There is a list of current and past officers, committees, and a complete set of the organization's bylaws.

BCBA news is featured on the site's "News" page. The most recent version of the Newsletter will always be posted on the page in browser-readable form, along with other items of interest to the local bar. At the bottom of the page are links to past issues of the Newsletter in downloadable PDF format.

A sub-page of the News page provides CLE information. Listed here are all BCBA programs for which CLE credit was granted (to assist bar members in completing their annual reports). Also on this page are materials or information presented at CLE programs when available.

Members are strongly urged to check their listings on the Members page and provide corrections as needed.

The "Links" page on the site provides links to a number of law-related web sites and can be a good starting place for research. Members are urged to suggest additional links that they find helpful.

A wealth of court-related information also is available on the site. The main "Court Information" page gives an overview of the 13th Circuit and provides names of personnel other than judges.

The "Judges" page lists all the judges of the 13th Circuit by division. It also lists retired judges of the 13th Circuit and sitting and retired judges of other courts with local connections.

The "Docket Schedule" page lists the docket schedules of all judges for both Boone and Callaway counties. This page was recently reviewed for accuracy by court secretary Maria Gunn, and some changes were made that have not been published in any other form.

Another valuable information source is the "Phones" page, which provides direct phone and fax numbers for courthouse offices and key personnel.

A recent addition to the web site is the "Filing Fees" page, which summarizes local filing fees (except probate) and is based on the internal summary sheet used by the Circuit Clerk's office. This page was recently reviewed for accuracy by Sherry Seiling, an Assistant Circuit Clerk.

Although not considered an official source, the Local Rules of the 13th Circuit appear on the "Local Rules" page and its sub-pages. They were taken directly from an electronic copy of the rules furnished by the court. The court's Microsoft Word document containing all the rules also may be downloaded here.

Finally, the site includes many of the approved local forms. Additional forms will be added in the future.
